Pensions After Jan. 1, 1894. WASHINGTON, March 3.-There was a ripple of excitement this morning in the House. Mr. Watson (F. A., Ga.) rose to a question of personal privilege, and sent to the desk a recent copy of the Atlanta Constitution containing an article written by E. W. Barrett, its Washington correhim (Watson) with having voted with the Re publicans in the Craig-Stewart election case for financial considerations and the promises of money from the Republicans to aid him in his next campaign. With considerable feel-ing Mr. Watson denounced the article as false in every particular and the insinuations thereas cowardly. He added that ever since he had been here the Speaker's clerk had disparaged and maligned him.

The District of Columbia Appropriation bill was then passed, and the House took up the bill giving reduced rates to commercial trav-

Mr. Mailory of Florids and Mr. O'Neill of Pennsylvania opposed the bill, on the ground that it was not proper or legal for railroads and other common carriers to grant special rates to special classes.

Mr. Simpson (F. A., Kan.) said the bill was for the purpose of granting special privileges to special classes, and he was surprised to see the Democrats supporting it. It was similar in its effect to a protective tariff, which granted special privileges. He referred to the author of the Inter-State Commerce law (Sensor Cullom) as an injustious railroad attorney. Mr. Lind (Rep., Minn.)—I call the gentleman to order.

The Speaker-Tho gentleman is clearly out The Speaker-The gentleman is clearly out of order.

Mr. Simpson-Well, I will withdraw that. I beg pardon. I am a new member and do not know your rules. But that is the way we talk in Kausas. We are a plain-speaking people.

Mr. Patterson (Dem., Tenn.) demanded the previous question. This was voted down, 50 to 70, and pending further discussion the House adjourned until to-morrow.

The Senate to-day resumed the consideration of the Idaho contested election case, and tion of the Idaho contested election case, and Mr. Gray (Dem., Del.) argued in favor of the contestant, Chaggett.
Mr. Morgan (Dem., Ala.) submitted as a substitute for the pending resolution confirming Mr. Du Bois in his seat a series of declaratory resolutions, defining what must be the vote and proceedings that constitute the choice of a United States Senator by the Legislature of a State, and adding that these proceedings were required by the Constitution of the United States to be laid by the Legislature and not by act of Congress.

were required by the Constitution of the United States to be lind by the Legislature and not by set of Congress.

At 3 o'clock, the hour named for a vote, a parliamentary langle arose as to whether Mr. Morgan's substitute was admissible. The Vice-President submitted the question to the Senate. The vote resulted 9 yeas to 51 nays. The nine votes were cast by Measra. Berry. Cockrell, Coke, George, Gorman, Harris, Hill this first vote in the Senate), Jones of Arkansas, and Morgan.

The motion to seat Mr. Claggett was voted down, 55 to 7. Mr. Hill voting in the negative. The final vote confirming Du Bois in his seat was: Yeas, 55; nays. 5—the nays being Measrs. George, Harris, Kyle, Pasco, and Stewart. The Democrats who on the final vote sustained the report of the committee in favor of Du Bois were: Bate, Berry, Kyle, Carlisle, Chilton, Cockrell, Coke, Colquitt, Gibson of Maryland, Hill, Kenna, McPherson, Morgan, Palmer, Pugh, Turple, Vost, Vilas, Voorlees, Waithall, and Waite.

The Benate thon resumed discussion of the long-delayed special order—the Paddock Pure Food bill, but without action adjourned until to-morrow.

A modified form of a bill which the Prestdent vetoed last year was reported favorably to the Senate to-day from the Committee on to the Senate to-day from the Committee on Military Affairs. It provides for the establishment of the Record and Pension Division of the War Department. The President based his veto on the ground that the bill was delegation of the appointing power to Congress, because it provided for the appointment of a certain army officer, Major Ainsworth, as chief of the division. The modified bill does not provide this.

Private Secretary Halford, who accompanied the President to Virginia Beach, Va., has re-turned to Washington. He says the President is having a good time shooting canvasback ducks, and has been quite successful. He does not expect the President to return to Washing-ton before Monday next.

The Senate in executive assion has ratified the treaty making the United States a party to the Berlin International Patent Convention, and it also adopted a resolution providing that nothing in the treaty should be construed to conflict with the present statutes of the United States concerning patents. There was no opposition to the ratification of the treaty and the adoption of the resolution.

Gen. Raum. Commissioner of Pensions, today appeared tefore the sub-committee of the day appeared tefore the sub-committee of the House Committee on Appropriations having charge of the Pension Appropriations bill, with reference to the estimates for appropriations for the next fiscal year. Gen. Raum told the committee that during the last five years 10,708 pensions had been dropped from the rolls, and during the same period 10,645 had been restored. The number of claims filed under the Dependent Disability act of 1880 was 720,227. On Feb. 20 last claims were pending for original pension as follows: Old wars-Men. 1227; widows, 84,572. Act of 1890—Men. 128,312; widows, 84,572. Act of 1890—Men. 128,553; widows, 84,572 act of 1890—Men. 128,553; widows, 84,572 act of 1890—Men. 128,563; widows, 84,572 act of 1890—141,553; widows, 84,573 act of 1890—141,553; widows, 84,573 act of 1890—141,553; widows, 84,573 act of 1890—141,553; widows, 84,573; act of 1890—141,553; wid House Committee on Appropriations having $43,000,000 for the remainder of the mean year.

Mr. Mutchler, Chairman of the committee, called attention to the fact that $125,000,000 was asked for the next fiscal year, and that last year $124,000,000 was spent, and that on March 1 the expenditures were $7,000,000 less than the corresponding expenditure last year, so that there ought to be money left over.

The committee have nearly completed the bill for the coming fiscal year, and the aggregate will be less than that of last year.

The resolution of Mr. Bankhead, Chairman of the House Committee on Public Buildings and Grounds, defining a policy in regard to the future action of the Committee on Public Building bills. was tabled by a vote of 2 to 1, as was also one recently framed by Mr. Dingley as a substitute therefor. A member of the committee said that this action meant that the committee will now go ahead and report bills for the erection of cubile buildings where they are deemed to be necessary.

Mr. Peel of Arkansas introduced a bill in the House providing that pensions shall not be granted on original application filed after Jan. 1, 1893, for disabilities incurred or disease contracted in the service of the United States during the war of the rebellion; also that pensions shall not be granted upon original applications filed after Jan. 1, 1894, for any disability whatever, whether it was incurred in the military service of the United States in the war of the rebellion or otherwise. The bill further provides that no increase shall be allowed on pensions hereafter granted on account of military service in the United States in the late war or for disabilities incurred therein for more than 25 percent of the pension then existing. Nothing in this act is to be construed to prevent widows of honorably discharged Union soldiers from applying for aid and receiving pensions under the existing law, provided their marriage to the soldiers occurred prior to Jan. 1, 1852. granted on original application filed after

The River and Harbor bill, which is about ready to be reported to the House, will be a surprise. As it now stands it will be but a few millions of dollars less than the $24,000,000 bill of the last Congress. The engineers usually scale their recommendations down to the lowest notch before submitting them to Congress, but this year the Chief of Engineers dumped the estimates in upon the Rivers and Harbors Committee without any attempt at reduction. The total estimates received aggregate something like $45,000,000. The committee has been at work almost every day since the committees were announced strying to prepare a bill that would look reasonable to the country after the extravagance of the "billion dollar" Congress. The pruning knife was not sufficient in dealing with some of the projects, so a broadaxe had to be used. After giving numerous hearings to interested members and a few other persons the bill has been finally belied down to about $20,000,000. It is possible that further changes will be made in the aggregate before it is reported to the House, and it is also probable that the senate will add several millions to it when it reaches that body, so that there is fair prospect of another enormous River and Harbor bill.

Mr. McKinney of New Hampshire, from the House Committee on Invalid Pensions, to-day reported favorably the bill to establish an inreported favorably the bill to establish an in-termediate rate of pousion between $30 and $72 per month for deafness, and $50 a month to those who are disabled so as to require at-tention and are frequently and periodically incapacitated for manual labor. The report asys the proviso relative to total deafness is designed as a recognition of the great disabil-ity, inconvenience, hunditation, and inability to secure employment which arises in the case of those who are totally and absolutely deaf.

Assistant Secretary Bussey to-day made an Important decision directing that the name of Rudolph M. Manley of Company I. Forty-sev-Budolph M. Manley of Company I. Forty-seventh Pennsylvania Volunteer Militia. be restored to the pension roil. This decision restores to a pensionable status the 50,000 solders who served in the Pennsylvania militia about the time of Lee's invasion of that State. The questions involved in this decision have received more than ordiffary consideration, an opinion having been rendered to the Secretary of the Interior by the Assistant Attorney-General for the Interior Department, and lare by the Attorney-General of the United States, both of which sustain the present decision.

Up to March 1, 2,523 claims for sugar bounty, involving $3,914,654, had been filed at the Internal Revenue Bureau. Of these 925 claims, involving $2,952,012, have been paid: $2,715,740 on cane sugar, $215,400 on beet sugar, and $20,800 on sorghum sugar.

The sub-committee of the House Committee on Naval Affairs has practically completed its on Naval Affairs has practically completed its work upon the Naval Appropriation bill, and the full committee will meet to-morrow to consider it and agree upon a report. It is said that there is a difference of opinion among the Democratic members of the committee as to the advisability of building a number of new war ships. The disposition of the entire committee is, of course, to be as liberal as possible with the navy. The recent flurry over the Chilian situation has shown the necessity of a fleet ready for an emergency and sroused the latent patriotism of men of all parties.
While, therefore, the bill will be broad and liberal in its scope, as far as appropriations for the maintenance of the navy and the equipment of vessels about to go into commission are concerned, it is probable that no more than one new ship will be provided for. Chairsean Herbert of the committee is said to be opposed to providing for the construction of more than one new vessel, and he will doubtless be upheld by a majority of the committee, although some of the Democratic members will vote for an appropriation for the building of several war vessels as recommended by Secretary Trucy.

Representative Dingley of Maine indulged work upon the Naval Appropriation bill, and Representative Dingley of Maine indulged in an interesting talk on the silver question this morning just before the House assembled. in an interesting talk on the sliver question this morning just before the House assembled. He says the Republicans have not agreed upon any formal-action in dealing with this subject, but he is confident that nearly every Republican in the House is opposed to the free coinage of sliver, because they believe it will result disastrously to the country. On a square vote for or against free sliver, the Republicans, with very few exceptions, will vote against the bill. If the Democrats are propared to bring the question to the front and let it be decided on its merits the Republicans will not hesitate to show the country where the Republican party stands on that question. The Republicans are unwilling to assist in postponing the consideration of the subject until after the Presidential election is over, and give the opposition an opportunity to deceive the people, and then come in next winter and pass a free silver bill. If the Democrats are prepared to give the Republicans assurances that, if the bill is defeated this time, it will not be brought forward again during the present Congress, there might be some prospect of reaching an understanding with the members of the minority. Mr. Dingley says he is not authorized to speak for any one except himself, but he has gathered these impressions from conversing with his Republican associates.

THE PREVENTION OF CRIME,

Suggestions from Police Commissioner Mac-Lean and Anthony Comstock.

After dining last evening in Delmonico's large banquet hall, about 100 members of the Baptist Social Union listened to suggestions as to the prevention of crime in New York. Police Commissioner Charles F. MacLean and Anthony Comstock, who were guests of the society, made the suggestions.

In introducing Mr. MacLean, President Edward S. Clinch of the union said: "A few weeks ago a trumpet blast was sounded in one of our city churches. We had expected that the trumpeter would be here to-night, but he was unable to come. We have with us, however, one of his body guard, who is a member of his church. He adopted the name of Mac-Lean, not that he has any connection with that Island from which most of our city fathers come, but it has served him excellently in the obtainment of that political preferment which

Mr. MacLean said, referring to the manner of his introduction, that the vagaries of our friends are inexplicable. "Crime." he said. "varies from time to time with the fashion of the age. The first function of the police is to prevent crime. The police fail in two respects, as to public women and public houses. The police are exposed to somany temptations in the way of bribery on the part of public women and the keepers of public houses that they too often fail in their duty. You have a duty in these matters, too, and you fail because of the way in which you allow police magistrates to deal with the police. The efforts of the police to prevent crime are not supported by you nor by police magistrates. Too often the policeman who brings the criminal to the bar of justice not only fails to get the prisoner convicted, but is reprimanded for his effort."

Commissioner MacLean advised his hearers to visit a police court some Sunday morning and see how it is done. He called pool selling one of the worst forms of gambling, and said that by denouncing it his hearers could render a greater service than by denouncing the lottery. Concluding, he said:

"We have all made religious professions, and as religious men we have a duty to perform."

Yesterday was the twentieth anniversary of varies from time to time with the fashion of form."

Yesterday was the twentieth anniversary of Yesterday was the twentieth anniversary of the day when Anthony Comstock became connected with the Society for the Suppression of Vice, and his remarks were largely reminiscent. He thought the world had improved in the mean time, particularly in the matter of evil reading and gaming. The police had improved. He had not been "given away" in a single instance in the last three years when he had occasion to make a raid. The speaker said that there should be a clerk in every police station to draw complaints for police officers, and he should be held responsible for drawing them correctly. correctly.

SHOT HER HUSBAND.

Repenting the Beed She Hege and Receives

His Forgiveness. DETROIT. March 3.-Charles N. Ayers was shot and mortally wounded last night by his wife, whose suit for divorce was dismissed yesterday on a technicality. Ayers, last evening, went to his home to get some of his goods. His daughter remonstrated with him, but in vain, and an hour later the wife returned. She and her husband had some words and a shot and her husband had some words and a shot was heard. He emerged upon the porch, she following with a smoking revolver in her hand. Her first shot had missed and she levelled the weapon at him again, sending a ball through his left lung and mortally wounding him. Avers was carried into the parlor and the wife threw her arms around him, begging his forgiveness. He said he forgave everything and requested the police not to prosecute her. He was taken to a hospital and she to the Central Station. Both are over 50 years of age.

Started Of With Him to Linch Him. FLORENCZ, Ala., March 3.-Posses have been scouring this section for a negro who beat brutally and nearly killed two white women ordinity and nearly killed two white women near Waynesboro yesterday because they would not give him money. This morning he was caldured seven miles from Florence and brought to town. Several men at once took chargeof him and started tack to Waynesboro, the men remarking as they started off: "He will not bother any more white women." The negro will be hanged before reaching Waynesboro.

The Preucher Mate a Full Retruction. BUFFALO, March 3.-The Rev. Dr. Mitchell of the First Presbyterian Church, who in a sermon last Sunday attacked the appointment of R. B. Mahaney as Minister to Ecuador, has made a complete retraction and makes full stoler for his remarks. BILL OR GORMAN.

Representative Crain of Texas Thinks New York's Candidate the More Available, WASHINGTON, March 3.—Representative Crain of Texas, who was the manager of Mr. Mills's ganvass for the Speakership, and has been regarded as a Cleveland man, believes now that Mr. Hill or Mr. Gorman will be the nominee. "When I left Texas to come to Congress," he said to a Star reporter. "I think the general sentiment of the Democracy was favorable to the nomination of Mr. Cleveland. Since the action of the Democratic Convention of New York, however, that sentiment appears to have indergone a change, judging from newspapers and other public expressions of opinion The drift of sentiment seems to be tending toward Senator Hill." Whom do you prefer?" was asked.

"My preference would be either Gorman or Hill." he replied. "The former has demonstrated on the floor of the Sanate that he is a statesman of the highest order, and his great and successful management of the minority in the celebrated debate upon the Force bil has endeared him to the people of the South and to the lovers of constitutional liberty everywhere. The only possible objection, and I do not consider it tenable, which could be urged against him, is that of locality. He would be a splendid standard bearer. I would support Senator Hill because of his qualifications and his availability. For years he has been the Governor of the greatest State in the Union, and has been confronted by Repub-lican Legislatures. His public acts and his executive papers have demonstrated beyond question his fitness and capacity for the high fice of President. The man who has successfully and creditably governed the State of New York is assuredly qualified to be President of the United States. It is urged against him that he is a shrewd political manager. So he is. But is that a valid objection? It so, it applies with equal force to Mr. Gorman. the Democratic party needs is shrewd political managers. It was Senator Gorman' shrewd political management that enabled Mr. Cleveland to make the White House his home for four years, and it was Senator Hill's shrewd political management that for the first time since war brought New York into the Dem-ocratic column, and removed that State from the doubtful list in the Presidential contest. It was his shrewd political management that gave New York a Democratic representative in the Senate of the United States. It is not often that we find a man who possesses a combination of the qualification of political leadership and of statesmanship. Both Gorman and Hill are men of this character. The availability of tion of the qualification of political leadership and of statesmanship. Both Gorman and Hill are men of this character. The availability of Senator Hill must be apparent to overy fair-minded Democrat who is familiar with his record and the political condition of the country. He has never been defeated for a State of fice in New York, and there is no reason to believe that he will be, if nominated for the Presidency. Can the same be said of any of the other gentlemen whose names are mentioned in connection with the nomination?

"It has been charged that he and Tammany knifed Cleveland in the last contest, and that Hill is under the control of Tammany. The falsity of these charges is manifest from an inspection of the record of the yours necessary. His vote fell off in the latter year in counties in the interior, where he had been strong in 1884, and actually increased by about 12,000 in New York, where Hill and Tammany were supposed to be all powerful. Cleveland's yote also diminished in Brooklyn, where the Democratic organization is believed to have been hostile to Tammany. We of the South want a man nominated who can be elected. The South can get along with or without free coinage, with or without proteotion, for we have natural advantages which enable us to stand a great strain, but we cannot prosper under a force bill. I believe that the vote of New York is necessary for Democratic success. I have my doubts about our carrying any Western States, except, perfunys, Indiana. Before each Precidential election we hear a great deal of talk about carrying this or that Western State, but I have observed that the Democracy has not carried a Western State, except, perfunys, Indiana. Before each Precidential election we hear a great deal of talk about carrying this or that Western State, but I have observed that the Democracy of that States for the Presidential nomination, and I sam willing to accept the declaration as true. Hill is sound on the tariff. He has given the country to understand that he would not you see h

Democrats, will how to the will of the party. If not, they ought to have no voice in a Democratic Convention.

"The charge that Hill is under the control of Tammany is devoid of truth. He is not a man to be dominated by individuals or organizations. But the hue and cry against Tammany which has been raised by a number of Democrats, particularly in the South, is largely attributable to a lack of knowledge on their part of the composition, scope, and object of that organization. After the war Tammany was the only organized Democratic organization of prominence in the country, and was the nucleus around which the Democratic organization of prominence in the country, and was the nucleus around which the Democratic organization of prominence in the country. The machine simply means organization. Disintegrate Tammany and it is extremely doubtful to say the least, whether New York would be reliably Democratic. Tammany has been charged with corruption. So has the Democrate party, so has the Republican party, so have all political parties been charged. But, to the credit of Tammany, be it said, that she punished, through her members—Tiden, O'Conor, and others—the men who were accused of corruption. She puts up men of brains and charactor for responsible public positions, and carries the elections in the city and in the State of New York. Even those who declaim against the organization get up early in the morning of the day after each Presidential election and anxiously inquire. How did New York go? And they feel elated if Democratic is the answer. And this will be the response to the question if Hill is nominated."

BURGLARS USE 200 MUCH POWDER. They Blew the Safe to Bits and Were Captured in a Barn by the Police.

WESTON, Mass., March 3 .- This morning four ourglars pried open the door of the grain store of Frank and Cornelius Keefe and blew up the safe. They used so much powder that the safe was blown to pieces, desks and chairs were demolished, and the entire front of the office was blown out. The noise aroused the neigh-bors, who notified the police. The men were followed and captured in a barn on the Severns followed and captured in a barn on the Severns place.

In the barn several burglars' implements, a flask of powder, and two revolvers were found. The men gave their names as Heary Evans, Fred Curtis, Frank Carter, and Frank Warren. Their agos range from 24 to 31. They are believed to be a part of a gang of professional thieves from New York.

In the pocket of one was found $13, taken from the money drawer of the grain store. The men were arraigned before the Waitham District Court to-day on the charge of breaking and entering, and were held in $5,000 each.

Barillas Piles Up a Fortune

San Francisco, March 3,-H. Scott, a wealthy coffee planter of Guatemala, who just arrived from there, says the reports that Barillas hasn't made a fortune during his six years in the Presidency of Guatemain are absurd. He has cleared at least $1,500,000 yearly, and his fortune is estimated by good judges at $10,000,000. Most of this he has already sent to 000,000. Most of this he has aircady sent to Europe, and he has been mortgaging his real estate and personal property, as he expects to leave almost immediately for England. What his opportunities were for making money may be seen from the fact that the cofie planters alone paid him $800,000 yearly. Barrios handled the revenues in the same way as Barilias, but he developed the country, whereas no one can mention a single large enterprise that Parilias has aided with State money. Scott thinks Lienflests, who was Secretary of the Interior under Barilias, will be declared the next President by Congress.

Colored Hands Coming to This State.

SPRINGFIELD, O., March 3.-During the last week a large number of negroes have passed through here en route for Lowville, Lewis county, N. Y. and the neighborhood. They are from various parts of Tennessee, and are generally as black as the ace of spades and are generally as black as the ace of spades and exceedingly ignorant. The eighth our load passed through this alternoon, and still there are more to follow, superintendent chisses and Train Master Wilson of the Big Four say they received the targrees from connecting lines at Cincinnat, and that they were informed that they were informed that they were engaged for railroad work near Lowville. The Clan-na-Gael Celebrates the 114th Anniversary of His Birth at Cooper Union. The hall of Cooper Union was crowded to the oors last night at the celebration of the 114th anniversary of the birth of Robert Emmet by the Clan-na-Gael. Dr. John P. Brophy of St. Louis College presided. Gilmore's band played Irish airs, and Mrs. Jennie Campbell Keough. Mrs. Toal, and Mr. Joseph Lynde sang patriotic songs that aroused the audience. We have contributed our money to save the lives of her robbed and evicted tenants, and have enabled her representatives to sit in a Parliament that shuls its doors in the faces of the poor by refusing to provide a salary for the legislative office. For all these things we have been brought into judgment and have passed through the harmless storm of English disapprotation.

We recognize the justice of the cause of Ireland because of the American example by which she has interpreted her theory of popular rights. Her entire political literature is kindled by the spirit of the American Revolution. The echoes of Bunker Hill, said Flood in the best vein of his exultant cloquence, 'rolled over the Atlantic, wakening Ireland from her disgraceful sleep of centuries.' We offer no excuse for our attachment for a people who began their contest against national grievances by hanging up in the banquet hall at Donegal Arms the portrait of Franklin with the motton. Where liberty is, there is my country,' and ended the feast with this toast to the republic beyond the sea, 'Lasting freedom and prosperity to the United State of America.'

DIVORCED SINCE JULY LAST. Yet She Never Knew It, She Says, and Her

Husband Was Around as Usual. Lena Besser, 20 years old, has begun procoedings in the Superior Court to set aside a decree of divorce which Leopold Resser obtained against her on July 2, 1801. They have two children. In her petition she says that while-without her knowledge-the proceedings for divorce were pending her husband was living with her, and that he continued to live with her until two weeks ago. She remembers that in April, 1801, her brother-in-law, Joseph Besser, served some papers on her, which may have been the summons and complaint in her husband's action. Joseph told her they were for her husband. She kept them until her husband came home without reading them, and gave them to him. He said they amounted to nothing, and took them. The papers in the case charged her with adultery with her uncle, Marks Koplick.

On July 2, 1831, she alleges her hust and asked her to go to court with him, as he had to appear in an action in which he was trying to get some money from her uncle. He told her if she was asked what she had to say, she was to repeat: "I have nothing to say." She went to sourt and did as he requested her. It was only recently that she learned that he had a decree of divorce against her. She remembers that in April, 1801, her Kunz was 40 years old, and was a prosperous butcher until he became infatuated with horse racing. Ilis wife gave him money to start a saloon, and he did well again until he had a bad day at Sheepshead Bay, and drank nearly two quarts of whiskey, intending to kill himself. Later, after heavy losses in the Harrison pool rooms, he told his wife he was going to commit suicide, and that night disappeared. Nothing was heard of him for serial menths, and his family believed him dead wife sent him money, and when he came back set him up again in the meat business. She alleged non-support. cester county. Mass. She alleged non-support, desertion, and adultery, and asked for the custody of her child. Clara Hathaway, her sister, testified to the acts of the defendant, and E. G. Higgins, a member of the Sesond Advent Church, stated that the defendant, who was also a member of the church, confessed before a committee of the church to committing adultery. This statement was also corrobotated by G. W. Thomas, Judge Aldrich granted a decree nist and the custody of the child. Mr. Withington some time ago challenged in a sermon at Mission Hall, any one in the little congregation to prove the scandalous charges against him, He denounced his accusers as falsifiers.

Put Her Child in a Snowbank to Save Its

DANBURY, March 3.—The three-year-old daughter of Mrs. Ernest Beach, living on Crane's Hill, while playing about the house yesterday found a bottle containing a mixture of morphine and opium. She drank two ounces. The mother discovered what the child had done, and at once gave her an child had done, and at once gave her an emetic, without effect. The child showed signs of drowsiness. The Beaches live a long distance from their nearest neighbor, and to call help was out of the question. The mother struggled for two hours walking the child upand down the floor, but, becoming exhausted and fearing she would be overcome, decided to place the little girl in a snowbank in front of the house and go to the foot of the hill, a distance of over a mile, for aid. She returned with a neighbor and a physician, and after several hours more of hard work the child was out of danger. out of danger.

NEWS OF THE RAILROADS.

New York and New England. Prosident Chauncey M. Depew denied yes terday in the most positive terms that the New York Central Company had in contemplation any union of interests with the New York and New England road. Mr. H. Walter Webb said that he had received a despatch from his brother, Dr. Seward Webb, disclaiming any intended connection with the road. Director Charles Parsons appounced that proxies for hree-fourths of the capital stock of the New England road were held by Messrs, Bostwick and Starbuck, and that they would dictate the election of the President and Board of Directors at the annual meeting next Tuesday. President Corbin declined to talk at all on the subject, and at the office of the company no information of the rumored deal could be ob-information of the rumored deal could be obtained.

Wednesday afternoon the statement that Dr. Webb would accept the office of President was believed, because of the apparently trustworthy source from which it emanated. It is still asserted that the offer was made and acceptably the beautiful the other was made and acceptable was dependent upon conditions with which the other side could not comply. One of his requirements was said to be that the New England road should obtain the right of entry into New York over the Hariem tracks. Grand Central officials seout the idea that it would be possible to accomplish this, It was said also that when it became known to the Vanderbilt people that Dr. Webb was inclined to go into the New England Company so strong an influence was brought to bear so strong an influence was brought to beaupon him that he was induced to relinquisi upon him that he was induced to relinquish the idea.

Rumors were plentiful of discord among those who have been regarded as the largest holders of stock, and it was said that the Corbin party will be forced out at the annual election, but as far as any expressions from the persons interested could be obtained the street is absolutely without information. At the opening of the Stock Exchange orders in the stock were so numerous that wide differences in prices were recorded at the same moment. The stock ranged at from 58 to 59 in the first few minutes of business.

The Reading Investigation.

HARRISBURG, Pa., March 3.-Attorney-Gencomplaints made by A. J. Cassatt and T. V. Powderly against the lease by the Philadelphia and Reading Railroad Company of the Lehigh Valley and Jersey Central Railroads. The complainants were not represented.

The Philadelphia and Reading was repre

ented by John G. Johnson, James G. Campbell and Thomas Hart of Philadelphia; the Lehigh Valley by Henry S. Drinker. Francis L. Gowan and M. K. Olmstead of Harrisburg, and the Central Railroad of New Jersey by Samuel Dixon and Richard Dale of Philadeland the Central Railroad of New Jorsey by Samuel Dixon and Richard Dale of Philadelphia.

Mr. Johnson presented the original lease between the Reading and the Lehigh Valley Railroads and Mr. Dixon the leases which consolidated the Reading and Jersey Central roads to the Attorney-General, who was told that as these documents were private he would be expected to return them after he had examined them without permitting any other person to see them. After he had remarked that counsel for the railroad companies represented had expected that somebody would be here who would do more than write letters or make more assertions. Mr. Johnson and his fellow lawyers, with several railroad officials, retired to an adjoining room to determine on the order in which their side of the case should be presented. Among those in the conference was A. A. McLeod, President of the Philadelphia and Reading Railroad. After a brief consultation Mr. Johnson began the argument for the Philadelphia and Reading Railroad, the substance of which was that his company and the Lehigh Valley were neither parallel nor competing within the meaning of the constitution, and that as the Jersey Central was a foreign corporation, Pennsylvania's organic law had nothing to do with it. He had also contended that while there had been discrimination against the interests of the Sinte under the old regime, the lease consummated by the Reading Railroad would result in great benefits to the people of this commonwealth. Mr. Dixon followed for the Lehigh Valley, and Matthew Long of Hazleton spoke against the lease as the representative of the poople of his city.

The Attorney-General will render his decision in a few days as to whether the consideration of the commonwealth of the constitution of the poople of his commonwealth and the lease as the representative of the poople of his city.

Takyron, March 3.—The special joint committee to investigate the combination of anthracite coal roads met after the House adjourned to-day, and reorganized by electing Mr. Beekman Chairman and Mr. Lane Secretary. New subpeans were issued to bring all the officials of the roads involved to Trenton next Monday afternoon. If the leases and contracts entered into by them are not promptly produced, the matter, it is understood, will be thrown into the courts.

The Tresident says in his report that both gross and not earnings show a large increase over those of the same period last year, and that the line is in a greater state of efficiency than ever before in its history. The recent issue of bonds, $3.200,000, was all sold, and the proceeds are being expended in providing increased facilities and equipment.

Rates to the Conventions.

CHICAGO, March 3 .- A half-fare rate for the Democratic National Convention has been authorized by the Central Traffic Association. The tickets are to be sold June 16 to 20, and will be good to return up to July 8.

For the Republican National Convention the date of sale has been extended from June 2 to 6, with June 25 as the return limit.
